HOAGLAND'S
NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!
W. E. COOPER

HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent, and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive

Carriage Factory,
Corner of Second and Madison Streets.
He respectfully refers to the following

CARD.

Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling, invented by H. B. Hoagland, we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used.

It fastens without bolt or screw, and is therefore, easily and speedily separated. It rests on Gutta Percha so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient, safe and secure.

It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use, and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all cases. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent, heretofore considered the best in use.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO SEPTEMBER 28.

Soldiers' Home at Milwaukie.

MILWAUKIE, Sept. 28.—The buildings of the National Military Asylum was dedicated here to-day. The building presents a fine appearance and will have a frontage of 240 feet when the wings are completed. It is a model of beauty, finish and completeness of appointments, and will accommodate comfortably 500 inmates. General Butler, President of the Board of Managers, delivered the address, bidding welcome to the friends of the soldiers. General Butler explained that this is not a charitable institution except in theory. The noblest phase is, that it was built from the stoppages of fines and forfeitures of soldiers, so that bad soldiers were compelled to make homes for good ones. The orator alluded in feeling terms to the recent death of General Rawlins, one of the Board of Managers. He said, on account of this calamity it is not thought proper to make any imposing demonstration in the ceremonies at this time. He paid a high tribute to General Rawlins, also to Colonel Walker, of Milwaukie, another member of the Board of Managers, recently deceased. Governor Fairchilds, Governor Smythe, Senator Carpenter and others made speeches, and the flag was raised and a salute fired.

Louisville Dispatch.

LOUISVILLE, Sept. 28.—Deputy United States Marshal Harrington brought five men from Lewis county, who were arrested for resisting the process of the United States Court. They were put to bail in the sum of $500 each to answer at the December term of the United States Court.

It is now understood that Judge J. S. Black will sue the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Co. for $50,000 to $100,000 for injuries sustained on the road during the early part of the summer.

Washington News.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—Frederick F. Low, of California, is appointed Minister Plenipotentiary and Envoy Extraordinary to China.

The Cabinet met to-day, but the only members present were Secretaries Boutwell and Cox, and Attorney General Hoar and Assistant Secretary of State Davis and Assistant Postmaster General Earl represented the heads of those departments.

Miscellaneous.

RALEIGH, N. C., Sept. 28.—There was a slight frost this morning, but no damage to crops. Tobacco planters are a little uneasy.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 28.—Herzog, the famous running horse, who made a mile in 1:43¼, the best time on record, died to-day at Buckey's track, from cold on the lungs. The owners refused $15,000 for him within a week.

ALEXANDRIA, Sept. 28.—Johnson, Conservative, was elected to the Legislature in this county to day. In July the county went Radical by 125 majority.

Monetary.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—The excitement in Wall street was very great throughout the day. Events were scarcely less important than for many days past. Friday's contracts in the gold room are not yet cleared. A committee of twenty members of the gold room was appointed to assist in arranging the clearing house [illegible]. This committee will work all night and straighten out Friday's business. The announcement that the Bank of New York is unable to go on with clearing, occasioned a general rush to sell stocks. Another storm thus burst on the stock exchange. Rumors of failures in stock exchange prevailed. None are yet officially announced. The values made to-day have wiped from existence a large number of small operators and weakened many larger firms.

The State Tobacco Association to-day adopted resolutions in favor of raising the prices of manufactured tobacco.

At 11 o'clock at night the committee appointed by the gold board to adjust the accounts of Friday last, had been busily engaged all evening at the banking house of Jay Cooke & Co. The work can't be completed to-night as statements have been yet furnished only by about 150 out of 300 members of the Exchange. The work of adjustment is proceeding on the basis of 135 for all contracts on Friday, except those of Belden & Co., whose accounts have been thrown out and who are generally spoken of by brokers as "gone up."

Destructive Fire.

PORT DALHOUSIE, Ontario, Sept. 28.—Two-thirds of this town was burned this morning. Ten stores and dwellings were consumed. The loss is about $40,000.

Another Ticket in Massachusetts.

WORCESTER, Sept. 28.—The State Labor Reform Convention was attended by 230 delegates, representing all the counties, except Duke and Nantucket. The main purpose of the Convention is the formation of a new political party in the interest of the working men. Resolutions were adopted denouncing all laws creating distinctions in favor of color, or condition, or nationality, and insist upon the reduction of the hours of labor at the public expense to eight hours, and demanding all candidates for office to pledge themselves to support a law prohibiting manufacturing corporations from employing female and minors over ten hours per day; favoring the taxation of all bonds and securities; opposing the introduction into the country of a servile race to degrade and cheapen labor; and asserting that the recognition of the claims of bondholders that the national debt is payable in coin only is a clear repudiation of the national faith. The following nominations were made: For Governor, E. M. Chamberlain, of Boston; for Lieutenant Governor, James Chatlary, of Springfield; for Secretary of State, S. B. Pratt, of Randolph; Treasurer, N. W. Stoddard, of North Bridgewater; Attorney General, Charles Crowley, of Lowell; Auditor, L. Glines, of Haverhill. None of the gentlemen named have been prominent in political matters. The Convention is not likely to make much change in the present political aspect of the State.

Hartford Dispatch.

HARTFORD, Sept. 28.—The liabilities of Clark Holt, of Rockville, a large manufacturer and President and Treasurer of Tolland County Insurance Company, are much larger than was first supposed. They will probably reach one-fourth of a million. Holt's whereabouts is unknown. The soundness of the Insurance Company is not affected.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

LONDON, Sept. 28.—Charles Dickens opened the winter season of the Midland Institute at Birmingham, last evening. In concluding his speech he said his political creed consisted of two articles. His faith in the people governing was infinitesimal. His faith in the people governed was illimitable.

Archbishop Cullen, in reply to a deputation bearing an address from citizens of Wexford, Ireland, said by moderating their demands and not interfering with the legitimate rights of any class of institutions, tenants would enjoy the results of their labor in undisputed tranquillity.

The Times, in an article on the situation in France, says the coincidence of the Emperor's sickness and the reconstruction of the government is a serious misfortune. The energies of the Emperor cannot be well spared at such a crisis. Reforms come unfortunately while the Emperor is incapacitated, and at a time when most required. The speculations of the people on the uncertainties and opportunities of the future encourage and augment the public disquietude. If the crisis had occurred ten years ago, the Emperor could have brought to the work the energies he carried into the Italian campaign. If the experiment had then succeeded it would now possess a generation of statesmen with some parliamentary experience. The only question is, was the prospect of success so clear, then, as to justify precipitating it instead of postponing the trial? The present peril is serious in any case, and aggravated by the Emperor's ill health. But peril of some kind has been in prospect for the government for the past two generations.

FLORENCE, Sept. 28.—King Victor Emanuel and the diplomatic body of Florence will go to Venice to receive the Empress on her way to the East.

LISBON, Sept. 28.—Cardinal Emanuel Benito, Patriarch of Lisbon, is dead.

The King of Portugal denies that he had any intention of abdicating in order to accept the throne of Spain.

Fanny Fern having said that the men of the present time are fast, Prentice replied that they have to be to catch the women.

North Pacific Railroad.

CALIFORNIA, OREGON AND THE NORTHWEST.

E. B. Clayton, who was a member of the Pacific Railroad party, headed by Canfield, which was here last July, recently wrote a long letter to Jay Cooke, giving a report of his trip and his observations on the country. Following are portions of the letter:

Jay Cooke, Esq.: MY DEAR SIR—The journey to our Pacific coast, which I have just made at your request, had, as I suppose, for its chief object the investigation of such facts as might bear upon the desirableness of advancing in the construction of the proposed Northern Pacific Railroad. My own point of view must be, of course, that which any intelligent traveler might take, leaving to men of practical science all questions as to the details which an engineer or surveyor should carefully examine.

To see for ourselves the characteristics of Western Oregon, we decided to go from San Francisco to Portland by land, instead of taking the steamer on the ocean. A ride of twenty-eight miles by steamboat to Vallejo, and about one hundred and forty miles by rail, through Sacramento and Marysville, brought us to Oroville, California, on the Feather river, where began our stage-coach ride of about 600 miles. We could not but notice in this region the vast injury done by hydraulic mining; farms and orchards, once under a [illegible] cultivation, being now completely buried under the sand and gravel brought down by the streams, from the mines in the higher lands. Over a great extent of country, mining has ceased to be profitable; and so all business connected with this branch of industry has been abandoned; but hundreds of thousands of acres have been rendered forever unfit for tillage, and present good has caused lasting impoverishment.

AGRICULTURAL CONDITION.

Our staging began (June 29) in the midst of the wheat harvest, in latitude 39 deg. The showers of winter and the rains of springs, in all this Pacific region, had been unusually light, and as they seldom have rain during the summer months, we saw the country during our whole journey, under the disadvantages of drought. Yet the harvests were evidently abundant, and excellent in quality. Farming, through this state and central Oregon is carried on on a large scale. Great numbers of reaping and threshing machines are employed to do the work for which the population is altogether too sparse to supply human sinews. A little north of the flourishing town of Chico, we pass a farm of 22,000 acres, under admirable cultivation, with [illegible] propelled machinery, threshing the vast heaps of ripened grain.

Steadily ascending the valley of the Sacramento river (or its tributaries), and passing through Red Bluff and Shasta City we crossed Trinity mountain on the afternoon of the 30th, and so came down into the valley of Trinity river, a branch of the Klamath, on the west of the [illegible] mountains, called, in California, the Coast range, and in Oregon the Cascade range. All this region abounds with fine timber, with excellent pasturage, and with plains and hillsides well adapted for grain. Yet there are also to be found wide areas which, under the present drought, [illegible] burned up, and which, at all times, must have irrigation in order to productiveness.

OREGON.

On Thursday, July 1st, crossing latitude 42 deg., we entered Oregon; going over the Siskiyou mountains and through the Rogue river valley to Jacksonville. We found, as we moved northward, new varieties of trees and flowers; but the general characteristics of the country were not essentially different from those of California. There [illegible] to be every inducement for agricultural enterprise to occupy the land and the valley of the Umpqua, and that of the Willamette, must certainly attract a large population just as soon as markets are opened for the productions of skill and industry. The natural tendency of trade and travel from this section must be northward, towards the Columbia river, and the capitalists of Portland are beginning already to open the way by railroad communication through the beautiful and fertile Willamette valley.

PORTLAND, OREGON.

Towns and embryo cities became more numerous as we advanced, and when I reached Portland, on Monday, July 5th, where the people were celebrating the National Anniversary, I found it hard to realize that so great a crowd could be gathered in city of 8,000 inhabitants, and still more, that such results in agriculture, commerce and manufactures could have been attained whilst the whole population of the vast State of Oregon is only 120,000—scarcely one-sixth of that of the city of Philadelphia. I leave to my fellow travelers more minute statements as to the statistics of Portland and of Oregon. But I must say that my feelings were those of continual astonishment, not only as to the delightfulness of the climate, the mildness of the winters, the coolness of the summers, the fertility of the soil, the size of the forests and the excellence of the timber, but, most of all, as to the energy displayed by the comparatively few workers who have been here laying the foundation of a mighty empire.

The city of Portland, you are aware, is upon the Willamette river, a few miles above the entrance of that stream into the Columbia river. It is thus eighty or hundred miles from the Ocean; and it is accessible to steamers and sailing vessels of large size and considerable draught of water. Constant communication is kept up with San Francisco by a regular line of steamships and vessels from Asia and from South America are frequently found at its wharves. One of its most powerful corporations, to whose energy (largely remunerative to the corporation) this whole northwest is greatly indebted, is the Oregon Steam Navigation Company, commonly spoken of as the "O. S. N. Co." By its courteous President, Captain Ainsworth, our party was favored with a kind invitation to visit Puget Sound, and to use one of his finest boats, the Wilson G. Hunt, which was placed at our disposal.

On Wednesday, the 7th July, accompanied by Captain Ainsworth and a select party of invited guests, we sailed down the Willamette, entering the Columbia through a slough (sloo) running west of Sauvie's Island; and traveling in a few hours about fifty miles to Monticello, on the Cowlitz. I was surprised to learn that this river, here in 46 deg. N. latitude, had been frozen over only three times in 18 years. Of the climate of this section I shall again have occasion to speak; but all that I could learn and what I [illegible], confirm the testimony given me that usually Portland has about the winter climate of Newport, R. I. The prevailing breezes in summer are from the north, and the nights are almost always cool and refreshing. The lumber traffic (and manufacture) on and near this river are exceedingly large. Numerous saw mills are in active operation, and the supply, within easy reach, will not be for many years exhausted. One of our passengers was on his way to the mouth of the Columbia, at Cathlamet, to erect a new mill. He told me that only four weeks previously the company had been formed; already he had all the machinery on the way, and in a few days it would be put up, and the vast mill, capable of turning out 100,000 feet per diem, would be in operation.

THE OREGON FORESTS.

From Monticello to Olympia, eighty miles, we traveled by stage wagon; much of the way through dense forests. Here were trees such as I had never seen. Hundreds, perhaps thousands of them, were from 8 to 12 feet in diameter, and from 150 feet to 250 feet in height. Capt. Ainsworth told me that the keel of the first steamer built in Portland was cut from one tree, its length 167 feet by 12x14 inches. An intelligent man, in whose veracity I had every reason to confide, assured me that he had assisted in felling a tree, near Olympia, that was eight feet in diameter near the butt, and 350 feet in height; and that he had helped also to cut down a tree, where Olympia now stands, that measured 22 feet in diameter. There is a tree now standing there which, he tells me, is 13 feet through, and 90 feet to the first limb, whose thickness is three feet. There were thousands of trees (chiefly fir trees) that would have made masts for the largest ships in the world—trees tall and graceful, and of such exquisite proportions as to call out, constantly, the expression of our admiring wonder. You know that, like the human race, these trees attain almost their maximum height whilst comparatively young; and you may see many a majestic column reaching up 150 feet or more, whilst at the butt it measures only fifteen or eighteen inches, and at 100 feet high not more than ten.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

Reaching Olympia, the capital of Washington Territory, on Thursday evening, July 8th, we went on board our steamer that night, and sailed before morning. The town, roughly built, has about a thousand inhabitants, perhaps less. Its situation is not in all respects favorable for permanent growth. The tide [illegible] rise from sixteen to twenty feet, and in the spring (and in other seasons under the influence of northerly winds), the water comes up, and covers quite a large portion of the city site. At low tide only the lightest draught boats can come in or go out; nor does this seem to be a difficulty which can readily be overcome by dredging or by building long wharves. The climate here is milder in winter and cooler in summer than that of Portland; so cool in summer, that grains and fruits and other vegetable products requiring great heat cannot be successfully cultivated.

PUGET SOUND.

The sheet of water commonly spoken of as Puget Sound, is a vast inland sea, well called the Mediterranean of the Northwest. Puget Sound, proper, would seem to be only its southernmost portion. Then [illegible] Admiralty [illegible] the Straits of Juan de Fuca [illegible] on the West, and northward, [illegible] our present boundary line, 49 degrees, it expands into the Gulf of Georgia, into which empties Fraser's river. Its direct length from Olympia to our boundary is about 150 miles, by the usual course of the steamers, from port to port, the distance is much greater.

Rising early on the morning of Friday, July 9th, we found ourselves entering the beautiful and spacious harbor of Seattle, a town, named after the chief of the D'Wamish tribe, who died in 1866. Great interest was manifested by the inhabitants of the town, who crowded the wharf to see the strangers, our advent being supposed to have some bearing on the construction of the N. P. Railway. Flags were flying, and a salute was fired, and Indians, Chinese and white men all [illegible] alive to what was deemed the importance of the occasion. Hills, covered with a vigorous growth of timber, rise immediately behind the town, which is [illegible] along the water's edge, and for a quarter of a mile back. A conspicuous object from the water is a university building, a wooden structure of rather imposing appearance. The institution has had (perhaps still has) a large landed endowment. It stands upon a plot of ten acres, which, of course, will become, year by year, more and more valuable. Hitherto it has [illegible] the public school of the town, educating [illegible] of all grades of attainments.

The United States coast survey will give you accurately the soundings of this port, and of other harbors, but I [illegible] that the largest and most heavily laden vessels can enter and leave at the lowest tides. The only disadvantage, (so far as I can learn), arises from the great depth of [illegible] which makes anchorage difficult at a little distance from the shore. Some [illegible] genius, I may add, has put on his hotel a large sign, entitling his house "The Western Terminus."

THE LUMBER TRADE.

A sail of about thirty miles, from Seattle, (of which I [illegible] again) brought us to Teekalet, better known as Port Gamble, of the [illegible] lumber mart of the Sound. The immense mill, which we visited here, is owned in San Francisco, and it usually cuts 150,000 feet of lumber per day; [illegible] two or [illegible] large ships [illegible]. We saw, on the ways, under a gang saw, a log five feet in diameter, which saws were ripping up into massive planks, or rather beams. It was said that there was 4,000 feet of timber in this one log; that the tree from which it was cut, would probably afford nine or ten logs of equal length, furnishing clear lumber, the tree being probably 290 feet in height, and 130 feet from the ground to the first limb. A log of seven feet in thickness had been cut off a day or two previous, and it was most interesting to watch the ease with which [illegible] moved by the workmen, using the ingenious and powerful machinery. Here and elsewhere fires were kept burning continually, to get out of the way the debris of the logs. The furnaces [illegible] consume the tenth part of the strips and slabs, which could not be allowed to accumulate, and for which there is no market; which [illegible] must give away until population [illegible] demand. I may add that at this port we saw three large ships taking their loads of lumber, the boards, etc., being passed in through large portholes in the stern. Port Ludlow, 18 or 20 miles further, is another lumber town, where two ships were loading. Here we saw quite a number of the "Queen Charlotte Indians," light complexioned and with regular features, much the best looking of the race I have [illegible].

CLIMATE AND SCENERY.

At 3 P. M. we [illegible] Port Townsend, a thriving little town [illegible] delightfully located. The climate here (48 deg. N. latitude) is said to be charming. They never have ice on which it is safe to skate, and so mild are the winters, that flowers often bloom in the gardens all through January. We were so unfortunate as to be prevented, both here and elsewhere, from seeing the full beauty and grandeur of the [illegible]. The fires in the forests covered earth and sky with their smoke, and the Olympic range of [illegible] only 25 miles distant, and with [illegible] 8,000 feet high, were invisible during our whole sail over the Sound. From that in a clear atmosphere, Mt. Baker, Rainier, St. Helens, and even Hood, [illegible] can be distinctly seen [illegible] waters.

Opposite Port Townsend lies Whidby's Island, 35 miles in length, highly cultivated and productive. The Sound is indeed full of beautiful islands, reminding me of the Thousand Islands of the St. Lawrence, and perhaps more attractive, because of the grand mountains embellishing the scenery. I was much struck with my [illegible] in this voyage to [illegible] high [illegible]. Ranges and peaks far higher than the loftiest of the Alleghanies seem but hills in comparison with the more glorious heights that abound in the Pacific States and Territories.

THE WESTERN COAL MINES.

At about 5:30 P. M. our steamer ran into Bellingham Bay, near our northern boundary. Here, during the early days of the Fraser river excitement, was, temporarily, a very large town; now there are probably not one hundred [illegible], fourteen of whom are Chinamen. This bay is said to be the very Pennsylvania of our Pacific coast. Large beds of excellent bituminous coal abound, and the mines are successfully worked. At the time of our visit they were emptying out the water with which they had been compelled to flood the mines, to extinguish a conflagration. By large pumps and by the use of tank cars, they were discharging tens of thousands of gallons every hour; and they hoped to be able to resume mining in a few days.

We remained but a short time in Victoria harbor; but long enough to see that it could not approve the seat of a very large commerce. It could not be compared for a moment with Bellingham Bay or with Seattle in this regard. We stopped again, on our return, at Port Townsend and Seattle. At the latter place we remained several hours. A detachment of our party went some distance back of the town to the [illegible] coal mines, and others of us went out to Lake Washington, a beautiful sheet of fresh water, probably 300 feet or more above the level of the Sound, and capable, I should think, of furnishing an ample supply of pure water, for manufacturing or for all the uses of a great city. I inspected more closely the University building, and in the evening, at the table, I had a long talk with the Rev. Mr. Roberts, the Missionary of our church, at Seattle. He had brought his wife and children through Snoqualmie pass of the Cascade mountains, immediately E. of Seattle, and he described it as a pass easily feasible for railroad purpose, and one in which there was seldom any great amount of snow. From him and from many others, I heard much of the country in the valley of the Yakima, and I am prepared to believe that as a stock-raising, and in [illegible] parts, a wheat-growing region, it is one which will soon attract settlers, provided they can obtain easy communication with other sections, and a market for their produce.

CHANGE OF WHARF!

ON AND AFTER [illegible] 1st, the [illegible] will leave the [illegible] Wharf.
JAMES TURNBULL.
Portland, Oregon, August 30, 1869. s14lm

The Daily Oregonian.

THURSDAY MORNING, SEPT. 30, 1869.

A Clear Title to the Chieftainship.

Of the asinine press of Oregon, the Democratic organ of Portland appears ambitious to be chief; and every impartial observer must admit that it is succeeding admirably. Indeed it is facile princeps. Other competitors are no where. How could any of them hope to equal the following, which we take from its columns:

> It is not by any manner of means true that the Chinese had as many rights given them under Democratic rule as they have now. The policy of the Democratic party was, from the start, to discourage Chinese immigration, and for that purpose, in all the Pacific States and Territories, statutes were passed imposing a special tax on Chinamen engaged in mining. Not only that, but Chinamen were excluded from all places of amusement, from the first cabins of steamers, and from the parlors and dining-rooms of hotels. All these distinctions are now sought to be abrogated by the Radicals. The statutes must be repealed; the theaters, first cabins, parlors and dining halls, must be thrown open and the Chinese admitted, on terms of equality with the white men and women everywhere. If this is not a change from the old style, we cannot define, nor can the dictionary define what the word "change" means.

Now will this writer be good enough to point out those statutes which he charges the "Radicals" with an intention to repeal? Will he cite those acts of our Legislature by which Chinamen are forbidden to enter our parlors, theaters and dining rooms? Where on the statute-books are these acts, which this writer says are now to be "abrogated by the Radicals?" There are no such statutes. Is not this writer now about ready to say of himself what Falstaff said when he was befooled by the "merry wives,"—"I do begin to perceive that I am an ass?" A great uproar is made because the "Radicals," it is alleged, are about to abrogate statutes which have no existence, and compel whites and Chinese to associate together. This is equal to the old battle cry of so many campaigns,—"Do you want your daughter to marry a nigger?" It seems impossible for the Democratic press of Oregon to present anything which is not utterly contemptible in the estimation of all except the most ignorant and besotted of their party.

As for the mining tax laws in this State, they were all repealed years ago. The Chinese paid the tax for a time simply because they preferred paying it to incurring the expense and trouble of trying an appeal to the Courts. In California, however, they appealed to the Courts and the tax was declared unconstitutional. The Legislature of Oregon did itself honor by refusing to continue legislation which was violative of the fundamental law of the country, and which never could have been sustained before any respectable judicial tribunal.

An Irregular Warfare.

It is a noticeable fact that in all of the Conventions of the Democratic party this year there have been strong indications of a desire to get rid of the past record of the party and strike out a new line of policy. In Massachusetts and Wisconsin the movement was actually successful. In Ohio it proceeded so far as to bring about the nomination of General Rosecrans. In Iowa it caused the rejection by the Convention of a resolution opposing the Fifteenth Amendment. Elsewhere the movement has manifested itself in the quiet action by the Convention to reaffirm certain old dogmas of the Democratic creed. But everywhere there has been either an open or tacit admission that a "new departure" is necessary. In the South the movement has gone so far that the ex-rebel element insist that the opposition to the Republicans shall adopt some other name than that of Democrats. The Memphis Avalanche, the leading opposition paper of Tennessee, sharply shows some of the inconsistencies of the party:

> In Ohio, Rosecrans, who favored universal suffrage, was nominated for Governor. He declined, and Pendleton, who is opposed to universal suffrage, was nominated. In Pennsylvania, Packer, a bloated, plethoric bondholder, is the Democratic candidate for Governor. In California the Democrats are opposed to Chinese immigration. In the South the Radicals occupy the same position. * * * In Kentucky and the Northern States the Democracy commends itself to the support of their [illegible] element by opposing the Fifteenth Amendment; in Virginia Mississippi and Texas Democrats are anxious to adopt the Fifteenth Amendment as the price of getting back into the Union. In the North Democrats oppose negro suffrage, and are horrified at the idea of supporting a negro for office. In the South Democrats are for negro suffrage, and elect negroes to Congress. In the West Democrats are for taxing bonds and repudiating both principal and interest of the public debt. In the East the Democrats oppose taxing bonds and favor the stock-gamblers, brokers and bondholders. A man with [illegible] enough to keep himself out of the fire sees, and feels, and knows that the Democratic party is disorganized and demoralized.

The party at this time is simply groping about for something to fasten to. Its opposition to the Republicans is merely a loose, irregular opposition, like that which the elements opposed the Democratic party kept up for twenty years. It therefore seizes eagerly upon everything which can be made use of for political agitation and, thus, succeeds in keeping up a sort of guerrilla warfare.

In General.

An opposition organ says the thieves and scoundrels have all deserted its party and gone over to the Republicans. If half it says about these so-called "renegades" be true, the Democratic party must be the most successful school for rascality that ever existed.

The writer of those matchless "Sunday Leaders" pitifully speaks with a contemptuous sneer of such poor and obscure writers as Charles Dickens. This is a pity. The admirers of Dickens will now see what a mistake they have made in supposing him to be a writer of any distinction.

We observe that certain journals in this State continue to howl "tax the bonds!" Well, you had the last Legislature, why didn't you tax them? Probably you will answer that the Supreme Court wouldn't let you! You are right in this; but why can't you be honest enough, in view of this state of things, to stop prating about subjecting the bonds to taxation?

How honesty works in collecting the revenue is well illustrated by a comparison of the sums collected under Johnson with those collected under Grant. For the last half of the fiscal year ending June 30 1869, the internal revenue collections amounted to $21,516,000 more than for the corresponding period of 1868. Here is a fact for the people to study. We notice that some opposition editors are very much distressed because the revenues are now honestly collected and the debt is diminishing.

It has frequently been remarked that the officers of our army who have most distinguished themselves were not those who graduated the highest in merit at West Point. A similar observation has been made in France concerning the graduates of the military school at Saint Cyr, and a late Paris paper gives the names of those who have graduated at the head of the school—one for each year since 1820—accompanied by the statement that scarcely three or four of the whole number can be found to have even moderately gained distinction.

An Eastern paper apologising for John C. Breckinridge, states that when he left Washington, in 1861, he did so with the intention of returning, but was persuaded against his judgment to join the rebellion. The accuracy of this report is very questionable. There is evidence that he was tainted with the original sin of secession, and wanted to see the Union broken up. But if the truth of this report should be established, he would sink greatly in the estimation of the Democracy of Oregon, who admire him all the more because he went South to fight for the principles they all so deeply cherished in common.

The opposition press demands that special taxes shall be imposed on the Chinese. We have shown from the records of the country that such taxes are unconstitutional. But this does not satisfy the Chinaphobists, and one of their organs, —the Herald—says the rulings of the courts on this subject are obsolete—old rubbish of twenty years ago. We take the liberty of suggesting to that journal that what was good constitutional law twenty years ago is by many considered good yet. The principles of constitutional law do not change with quite such facility as do the notions and policies of the Democratic party.

A number of stock operators in Wall street have come to grief, and the Portland Herald and Albany Democrat set up a loud wail about it, declaring that "hundreds of people have been reduced from affluence to beggary," and condemning Secretary Boutwell for such a result. Now it is a pleasing sight to witness the sympathy of these two journals for the "bloated bondholders" who have lost their all at stock gambling. The Herald and Democrat could have repudiated these bonds without a single tear of regret for the sufferers; but they become champions of the bondholders for the sake of having a fling at Secretary Boutwell.

As every word which comes from Pendleton is cherished by the Herald as an utterance of wisdom, we beg to call its attention to an extract from one of his speeches, which we have never seen in that paper. On the 18th of January, 1861, he made a speech in Congress in which he said: "If your differences are so great that you cannot or will not reconcile them, then gentlemen, let the seceding States depart in peace; let them establish their government and empire, and work out their destiny according to the wisdom which God has given them." This is several years old in point of time, but of course what so great a man as Pendleton says must be forever new.

The Herald prints a speech recently delivered by Pendleton. "Young Greenbacks" sticks to the platform from which Seymour and Blair were launched into limbo last November. Everything that the Republicans have done he considers wrong. He discovers a fearful plot to flood this country with coolies, but omits to state that the only active agents in the plot are the Southern Democrats. He is moreover dreadfully alarmed lest under the Fifteenth Amendment Irishmen, Germans, Catholics and Protestants will all be excluded from suffrage, and nobody but the "nigger" allowed to vote. Pendleton is one of the "whiners" and "fossils" whom General Rosecrans advised the Democracy to slough off. But as they havn't done it the Republicans of Ohio will attend to the matter.

THE WEST.

One of the highest peaks at the entrance of Echo Canyon, on the Pacific Railroad, has been named by the company in honor of one of the Commissioners, Bluff Ben Wade.

Seventy barrels of eggs reached Sacramento last week by the Pacific railroad. They are sent across the continent and sold for ten cents per dozen less than California eggs.

Charles Crocker takes possession as second Vice President of the Central Pacific Company, and it is supposed will devote his attention to a speedy completion of the California and Oregon Railroad.

A threshing machine in Monterey county, Cal., recently threshed two thousand one hundred and ninety-four sacks, or four thousand five hundred and seventy-one bushels, and eight pounds of barley, in less than twelve hours, or at the rate of more than three sacks per minute.

"Ned Buntline" writes a card to the New York Times, denying that he said, seven-eighths of the deaths in California were caused by drunkenness; he only said "seven-tenths of the disease in the adult male population, as far as he could learn, had its origin in the use of wines and liquors."

Were the Democrats in California opposing Chinese immigration when they passed an act in that State in 1852, to encourage the importation of Coolies; saying that "it will be for the relief and convenience of the people, as it sometimes secures labor now demanded by their wants." Herald copy.

The Yreka Journal says that about one thousand Chinamen are employed on the California and Oregon Railroad, and that no opposition has yet been made by Democrats. The latter have said that it were better that the Pacific railroad should never be built, than employ Chinamen; and according to the same principle the Democrats of Siskiyou should be opposed to the railroad going there, if built by Chinamen.

The San Francisco Bulletin of the 22d says There are several ships lying in the stream waiting for crews. Seamen are not unusually scarce, but they seem to have tabooed certain vessels, and great difficulty is experienced in getting them to sign the articles of "rough" ships, or those with whom they are unacquainted. Seamen for the Navy are also wanted, to the number of 500, to supply vessels which are almost ready to leave the Navy Yard.

GENERAL NEWS ITEMS.

The mother of John W. Forney died at Lancaster, Pennsylvania, on the 14th September, aged seventy-seven years.

The three great anthracite coal companies are the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, the Delaware and Hudson, and the Pennsylvania. The first of these companies own the Avondale mine.

Cincinnati and St. Louis both propose to increase their population by extending their city limits. Chicago has already absorbed pretty much all the territory that joins, but is to be beaten at her own game.

Burn's pen, formerly in St. Michael's, Dumfries, which bore the initials "R. B." carved by the poet while waiting for the close of a tedious sermon, was lately put up for sale by auction, but the bidding did not reach five pounds, and the pen was bought in.

An "old miner" at Avondale proposes that here after all the miners give one day's pay every year toward the fund for the benefit of the widows and orphans. By this means, he says, they can raise $10,000, and for himself he counts the first day's work that he has done since the catastrophe sacred for this purpose.

The Springfield (Mass.) Republican nominates Caleb Cushing for the Chinese mission. Cushing represented this country in China twenty-five years ago, and negotiated the first treaty with that Empire. The Republican thinks that Mr. Cushing is a good enough republican to represent the United States, and his abilities are unimpaired by age.

(DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.)

DATES TO SEPTEMBER 29.

The Bible at Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 29.—A large meeting of citizens was held at Pike's Opera House to-night for action against the exclusion of the Bible from the public schools. Three thousand persons were present, and many came and went away who could not get in. Several prominent citizens spoke, and resolutions favoring the Bible in schools, and asking the Board not to act on the matter till after the spring election passed unanimously.

Money Matters in New York.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—A majority of the brokers adjusted their accounts before the Committee of the Gold Room to-night, without asking any abatement. The statement of Heath & Co. was received. Smith, Gould, Martin & Co. called on the Committee and stated that their account would be out immediately. Committee were still engaged at one o'clock.

The Herald calls on Congress to enact a law against gold gambling. It holds Boutwell responsible for the present bad state of monetary affairs.

The Tribune says the feeling against the gold exchange bank is justly deeper than at any previous time. A general uncertainty in Wall street continues, with the expectation on the part of many that still greater troubles are ahead.

Chicago Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Sept. 28.—Peter Sullivan, a sailor on a drunken spree yesterday, made disturbance in a saloon on North Water street, and was shot and killed by the proprietor, John Jackson. Sullivan has a wife and family in Milwaukee. Jackson surrendered himself.

The office of the Abend Zeitung, a German afternoon paper of this city, supporting the People's ticket, was seized by the sheriff yesterday on a warrant of replevin sued out by parties claiming to be the legal directors of the company. There is much excitement over the matter in Dutch circles. The seizure was prompted by the members of a ring of politicians whom the Abend Zeitung was opposing. Counter writs have been applied for, and the parties making the seizure have been enjoined from publishing the paper under the name of the Abend Zeitung.

BOSTON, Sept. 28.—The women pantaloon makers of this city are organizing a strike for better wages.

Political.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—It is stated that Hon. John Covode and Senator Wilson visited the President yesterday and urged him in view of the doubtfulness of Gov. Geary's election to visit Pennsylvania again. A fair will soon be held at Allenton which he was urged to attend. The President replied that he had been absent a good deal but would try to go. Covode then visited Secretary Cox and obtained a promise that the clerks in his Department should go home and vote without being docked.

Senator Wilson contemplates introducing a bill at the next session of Congress to prevent the exportation of gold or purchasing of gold unless the full amount of coin sold is actually delivered.

It is stated that 153 men, mostly Cubans, left the city on Saturday night. Their destination remains unrevealed. That they got on board the Hornet safely appears certain. The steamer put out to sea yesterday morning carrying 153 men besides a good stock of ammunition and guns, viz: a 68-pound Parrott, two Napoleon and two thirty-two pounders.

Political Prospects in Pennsylvania.

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—A Tribune Washington special says the Chairman of the Pennsylvania State Republican Convention, now in this city, reports the prospects of the party rapidly improving lately, and confidently expects success. All the departments have decided to give the clerks leave of absence.

National Finances.

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—The receipts of internal revenue for the first quarter of the present fiscal year, are estimated at $40,000,000—an increase of $10,000,000. The estimated receipts for the year are now placed at $175,000,000, as the present figures. Reduction of the month is estimated at nearly $10,000,000.

The Cuban Question.

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—A special from New York says the Sun asserts that Gen. Sickles has been directed to inform Spain that the United States is not anxious to mediate between the parties, and as Spain seemed unwilling to consider any practicable terms, the attempt at mediation may be regarded as abandoned. This leaves no negotiation on foot, but Sickles has not withdrawn the note that the United States Government may be compelled by the state of public opinion in this country, to recognize the independence of Cuba about October 1st. It is probable the next proposition by Prim and Serrano, will be to sell Cuba to the United States.

NEVADA.

Riotous Demonstration Against the Chinese.

VIRGINIA CITY, Sept. 29.—About 350 members of the Miners' Union, headed by the officers of the organization and accompanied with fife and drum, started out this afternoon to expel the Chinese from the works of the Virginia and Truckee Railroad. Sheriff Cummings, of this county, with his deputy and officers from Gold Hill, were present and read the riot act of the United States and ordered the crowd to disperse and desist from the unlawful business they were upon. Altma, President of the Gold Hill Union, replied, they would first do what they had started to do, and then disperse. As they approached where they were at work, the Chinamen dropped their tools and ran for their camps, gathered up their effects and money and started for the hills. No personal injury was done to any one, nor was any attempt made to injure the company's work. The Chinamen have been coming into town all the evening for protection. This high-handed outrage cannot fail to be immediately injurious to the interests of this city. It is reported that work will be at once suspended on this end of the road, and its completion will be indefinitely postponed.

Wm. Bennett, stabbed in an affray at Gold Hill last week, died this morning.

It blew a hurricane from last evening till late this morning, bringing a cold spell of weather.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 29.—Harry Brown, a desperate character, was arrested in this city today. In January last he was arrested on a charge of burglarly, but made his escape from the City Hall. He proceeded to Sacramento, where he shot and killed a man named Hewlett, whom he discovered in improper intimacy with his wife. Immediately afterward he embarked in a vessel bound for Puget Sound. Since then he has been to Peru, and only returned here a week since. The police being made aware of his return to-day, arrested him. Burglar's tools and a heavy slung shot were found upon him. He was taken to Sacramento to-day.

Wm. Thompson was found yesterday morning, on Harrison street, under the sidewalk, seriously injured about the head. Two men had assaulted and robbed him of three hundred dollars.

[illegible].—Our correspondent at Astoria, Sept. [illegible], the shipment of salmon, 7,500 hf bbls and [illegible], by Messrs. Hapgood, Hume & Co., is the last [illegible] that firm will make, they having sold out [illegible]. They have shipped this summer, in all, [illegible] bbls, consigned to Platt & Newton, San Francisco.

[illegible] B. Abbot, who for some time has been confined [illegible] on account of illness, is again able to [illegible] his duties as chief engineer of the works at Co[illegible]. His friends are glad to see him out again.

The U. S. Surveying schooner, Humboldt, came up [illegible] disappointment this afternoon, wet and foggy [illegible] and the surveying party not being [illegible] their work. She will drop down again [illegible] as the weather clears up.

The bark [illegible] arrived in port this evening, in tow [illegible], from Rainier, where she has been [illegible] cargo for Hong Kong.

LINN COUNTY FAIR.—The Daily Register of Tuesday says of the opening of the Fair: "The grounds of the Linn county Agricultural Association presented a lively appearance yesterday, giving evidence that the present week will witness the largest attendance and the most successful Fair yet held by the Association. There was computed to be between three and four hundred people on the grounds—considerable more than attended the first day last year. Five new buildings were in course of completion, while ten were already in full blast, offering to supply the wants of dry and hungry humanity. Articles for the Pavilion were arriving by the wagon load, and will be unpacked and put upon exhibition to-day. Three pens of sheep, several head of fine cattle and horses "till you couldn't rest," were on the grounds. The attendance to-day, the first day of the Fair, will be double, and perhaps thribble, the attendance yesterday. Should the weather not prove unfavorable, the Linn County Fair for 1869 will be a big success."

BRIEF MENTION.—Reporters are not permitted to know who are Jack Harris' bondsmen.

Hereafter the steamer Wenat will land at the O. S. N. Co.'s wharf.

The steamship Geo. S. Wright will sail this afternoon, for Victoria direct.

We have received copies of both the Albany dailies—the Register and Democrat. They are both tenas affairs, but big enough, perhaps, for the occasion.

The Great World Circus, at McMinnville Monday night, played to an immense house, notwithstanding the rain, which was falling in torrents.

The bark Whistler, Capt. Simpson, is now loading at Couch & Flanders' wharf.

IS IT SO?—The Commercial goes after the "Willamette Valley and Cascade Mountain Military Road Co.," denounces it as a swindle and says: "About thirty miles from Albany [they] have erected a toll-gate, although they have not spent a dime upon the route, which is now kept in repair by the road labor tax of the vicinity. They charge a toll for passing this gate that is equal to about ten dollars per ton upon merchandise—for an ordinary two-span team the toll is five dollars. Not satisfied with this, in Linn county they are hunting all the flaws of title within six miles of the road on either side, and put their Congressional claim upon the homes of some of the oldest settlers in the county."

SALEM.—The Statesman says: Messrs. Cox & Earhart are shipping a small lot of apples to Chicago. They are of choice varieties, and put up in the best possible manner. They also send a small lot to Fort Fetterman, Wyoming Territory.

Gov. Woods, yesterday, pardoned John Fitzhugh, of Douglas county, on a petition signed by six hundred citizens and most of the members of the Legislature. Many persons who had remonstrated before, now recommend his release. Fitzhugh went home by stage last evening.

AN AGED BIRD.—On last Sunday a goose belonging to Mr. Thomas Mountain, was killed by a dog. Her venerable ladyship was brought by Mountain from Shanghai something near twenty years ago, and at her death was over twenty-three years old. On account of her long residence with the family, she was valued very highly by her owner, who would not have sold her for any money. The killing was a dog-on foul proceeding.

FROM OREGON CITY.—A. M. Harding, an old an respected citizen of Oregon City, died yesterday of diabetes and congestion of the lungs. He had been sick in this city for some time, and went home to his family last Saturday; since which time, he grew worse until death relieved him from his sufferings. His funeral will take place to-day at Oregon City.

AMUSEMENTS.—We learn that an entertainment will be offered some time during the present week, at Oro Fino Theater, with which Mrs. Fanny Morgan Phelps will be prominently connected.

There is a rumor afloat, also, that a first class Minstrel Troupe will before long open a place of amusement in this city.

THE RED STOCKINGS.—Mr. J. R. Wiley, of the Pioneer Base Ball Club, received a telegram last evening from John W. Sutton at San Francisco, to the effect that the Red Stocking Club, after playing four games at that city, will start for home on the 5th October. So it seems the invitation to visit this city, could not be accepted.

SPICED SALMON.—This office is in receipt from Williams & Myers, of several cans of "Spiced Salmon," prepared by G. W. Hume & Co., at Eagle Cliff Fishery. The preparation is said to be by a new process, which gives the meat a peculiarly agreeable flavor. We'll try 'em, and we can, doubtless, then recommend the process.

PROBABLY A MISTAKE.—The telegraph announces that the Moses Taylor will sail from San Francisco for Portland, next Saturday. Up to three o'clock P. M., yesterday, the office of the N. P. T. Co., in this city, had received no notice to that effect, and it is believed that the announcement by telegraph is a mistake.

ANNUAL MEETING.—The annual meeting of the Ladies' Orphans' Aid Society will be held this (Thursday) afternoon, at two o'clock, at the Methodist Church. A full attendance is requested, as the Society at Salem have sent an urgent appeal to the ladies of Portland for additional aid.

FROM SAN FRANCISCO.—The bark H. W. Almy, which has on board two hundred and fifty tons of railroad iron for Ben. Holladay, sailed for Portland on Monday.

The steamer Pacific sailed for Portland on Tuesday, the 28th.

LIBRARY MEETING.—The regular quarterly meeting of the Catholic Library Association will be be held this evening, at the Library rooms. An address will be delivered by the Rev. Father Wenninger.

HIPPODROME.—There are twenty-three running horses now training upon the Washington county fair grounds, and three trotting horses. There are five trotting horses on the way.

MILITARY ORDER.—Major Dallas, Acting Inspector General of this Department has been ordered to Camp Harney to take command of that post.

RACE AT STOTT'S TRACK.—At the race at Stott's track last Saturday, Stott's colt, Jack Miner, a two year old, was winner. Time, 2:01, one mile.

THE "PACIFIC BLADE."—This weekly newspaper to be published at McMinnville by W. A. McPherson, will make its appearance next Tuesday.

SALE POSTPONED.—Mr. A. B. Richardson's real estate sale announced for yesterday, was postponed till next Saturday, Oct. 2d.

THE RICHEST BOY IN AMERICA.—The papers are telling us about a boy in New England, now fourteen years of age, who is supposed to be the richest boy in the United States, because he has a great deal of money. The richest boy in America, is the one who is good hearted, honest, intelligent, ambitious, willing to do right. He is the one who loves his mother, and always has a kind word for her; who loves his sister or sisters, and tries to help them and regards them with true affection. He is the boy who does not call his father the "old man," but who loves him, speaks kindly to and of him, and tries to help him as the hairs of his old age gather fast upon his brow. The richest boy is the one who has pluck to fight his destiny and future. He is the one who has manhood to do right and be honest and is striving to be somebody; who is above doing a mean action; who would not tell a lie to screen himself or betray a friend. He is the boy who has a heart for others; whose young mind is full of noble thoughts for the future, and is determined to win a name by good deeds. This is the richest boy in America. Which one of our readers is it? This boy we like; we would be glad to see; would like to take by the hand and tell him to go on earnestly, that success might crown his efforts. And if he is a poor boy, we should meet him at the threshold, bid him enter and give him good advice, well and kindly meant. That other rich boy in New England we don't care anything about, for there are fools and snobs enough to worship, flatter, and spoil him.

TO HEBREW PARENTS—RELIGIOUS INSTRUCTION.—Dr. Eckman has commenced imparting religious instruction to the children of those parents who may be desirous of committing their children under the (almost paternal) care of a man whose truly religious character and simplicity have ever most extraordinarily attuned his mind to that of simple childhood, and exercised a "magnetic" power over the juveniles brought within his influence which unregenerate minds can never acquire. The instructions will, till the new Synagogue will be completed, be given at the Washington Armory Hall, next building to the Portland Library. Till then, they will be given on the Sabbath and Holy days, after the close of the regular morning service.

By order of the President.

s17 P. LEVIN, Secretary.

Catholic Library.—The regular quarterly meeting will be held at the rooms on Thursday evening, Sept. 30th, at 7½ o'clock. The Rev. Father Weninger will be present and deliver an address. The parishioners are invited to attend. By order

THE EQUALIZER!

Treating Disease by Vacuum

DR. H. A. RODMAN

HAVING PURCHASED HADFIELD'S EQUALIZER and the Patent Right for Multnomah county, would respectfully inform his friends and the public generally that he is prepared to treat [illegible] fully those Chronic cases on whom all other means of cure have failed.

Having used this Instrument in connection with his [illegible] practice for about three months, he is satisfied that it will accomplish all that is claimed for it in curing Chronic Disease. He does not believe in the system of advertising cases cured, but any number of such may be seen on record at his office, consisting principally of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Paralysis, Curvature of the Spine, Nervous Debility, Dyspepsia, Weak [illegible], Asthma, Narrow Chests, Weak Lungs, Weak Backs, Weak, Stiff and Rheumatic Limbs, Sciatica, [illegible], Epilepsy, Palsy, St. Vitus Dance, Prolapsus Uteri, [illegible] tion, with all their [illegible] and all kinds of weakness of the [illegible]. Spermatorrhœa confidently cured in [illegible] to six weeks without medicine.

He uses other [illegible] when necessary, but the Equalizer generally [illegible] the cure without the aid of any medicines whatever. It brings a greater supply of blood and nutrition to all weak parts, thus creating new life and tone, and health, and strength [illegible]. It breaks up congestion and inflammation by equalizing the circulation throughout every part of the system.

Give it a fair trial and you will be satisfied with the results. It has been examined by [illegible] of physicians of all Schools of Medicine, and there has not been one dissenting voice to the [illegible] of the principle; all acknowledge that it fills a vacuum in the Science of Medicine.

From Astoria.—Our correspondent at Astoria, Sept. [illegible] the shipment of salmon, 7,500 hf bbls and [illegible] by Messrs. Hapgood, Hume & Co., is the last [illegible] that firm will make, they having sold out [illegible]. They have shipped this summer, in all, [illegible],000 bbls, consigned to Platt & Newton, San [illegible].

[illegible] E. B. Abbott, who for some time has been confined to his house on account of illness, is again able to [illegible] his duties as chief engineer of the works at Cape [illegible]. His friends are glad to see him out again.

The U. S. Surveying schooner, Humboldt, came up [illegible] Cape Disappointment this afternoon, wet and foggy [illegible] having set in and the surveying party not being [illegible] their work. She will drop down again [illegible] as the weather clears up.

The bark Andreas arrived in port this evening, in tow [illegible] from Rainier, where she has been [illegible] her cargo for Hong Kong.

Linn County Fair.—The Daily Register of Tuesday says of the opening of the Fair: "The grounds of the Linn county Agricultural Association presented a lively appearance yesterday, giving evidence that the present week will witness the largest attendance and the most successful Fair yet held by the Association. There was computed to be between three and four hundred people on the grounds—considerable more than attended the first day last year. Five new buildings were in course of completion, while ten were already in full blast, offering to supply the wants of dry and hungry humanity. Articles for the Pavilion were arriving by the wagon load, and will be unpacked and put upon exhibition to-day. Three pens of sheep, several head of fine cattle and horses "till you couldn't rest" were on the grounds. The attendance to-day, the first day of the Fair, will be double, and perhaps thrible, the attendance yesterday. Should the weather not prove unfavorable, the Linn County Fair for 1869 will be a big success."

Brief Mention.—Reporters are not permitted to know who are Jack Harris' bondsmen.

Hereafter the steamer Wright will land at the O. S. N. Co.'s wharf.

The steamship Geo. S. Wright will sail this afternoon, for Victoria direct.

We have received copies of both the Albany dailies—the Register and Democrat. They are both tonas affairs, but big enough, perhaps, for the occasion.

The Great World Circus, at McMinnville Monday night, played to an immense house, notwithstanding the rain, which was falling in torrents.

The bark Whistler, Capt. Simpson, is now loading at Couch & Flanders' wharf.

Is it So?—The Commercial goes after the "Willamette Valley and Cascade Mountain Military Road Co.," denounces it as a swindle and says: "About thirty miles from Albany [they] have erected a toll-gate, although they have not spent a dime upon the route, which is now kept in repair by the road labor tax of the vicinity. They charge a toll for passing this gate that is equal to about ten dollars per ton upon merchandise—for an ordinary two-span team the toll is five dollars. Not satisfied with this, in Linn county they are hunting all the flaws of title within six miles of the road on either side, and put their Congressional claim upon the homes of some of the oldest settlers in the county.

Salem.—The Statesman says: Messrs. Cox & Earhart are shipping a small lot of apples to Chicago. They are of choice varieties, and put up in the best possible manner. They also send a small lot to Fort Fetterman, Wyoming Territory.

Gov. Woods, yesterday, pardoned John Fitzhugh, of Douglas county, on a petition signed by six hundred citizens and most of the members of the Legislature. Many persons who had remonstrated before, now recommend his release. Fitzhugh went home by stage last evening.

An Aged Bird.—On last Sunday a goose belonging to Mr. Thomas Mountain, was killed by a dog. Her venerable ladyship was brought by Mountain from Shanghai something near twenty years ago, and at her death was over twenty-three years old. On account of her long residence with the family, she was valued very highly by her owner, who would not have sold her for any money. The killing was a dog-on foul proceeding.

From Oregon City.—A. M. Harding, an old and esteemed citizen of Oregon City, died yesterday of diabetes and congestion of the lungs. He had been sick in this city for some time, and went home to his family last Saturday, since which time, he grew worse until death relieved him from his sufferings. His funeral will take place to-day at Oregon City.

Amusements.—We learn that an entertainment will be offered some time during the present week, at Oro Fino Theater, with which Mrs. Fanny Morgan Phelps will be prominently connected.

There is a rumor afloat, also, that a first class Minstrel Troupe will before long open a place of amusement in this city.

The Red Stockings.—Mr. J. R. Wiley, of the Pioneer Base Ball Club, received a telegram last evening from John W. Sutton at San Francisco, to the effect that the Red Stocking Club, after playing four games at that city, will start for home on the 5th October. So it seems the invitation to visit this city, could not be accepted.

Spiced Salmon.—This office is in receipt from Williams & Myers, of several cans of "Spiced Salmon," prepared by G. W. Hume & Co., at Eagle Cliff Fishery. The preparation is said to be by a new process, which gives the meat a peculiarly agreeable flavor. We'll try 'em, and we can, doubtless, then recommend the process.

Probably a Mistake.—The telegraph announces that the Moses Taylor will sail from San Francisco for Portland, next Saturday. Up to three o'clock P. M., yesterday, the office of the N. P. T. Co., in this city, had received no notice to that effect, and it is believed that the announcement by telegraph is a mistake.

Annual Meeting.—The annual meeting of the Ladies' Orphans' Aid Society will be held this (Thursday) afternoon, at two o'clock, at the Methodist Church. A full attendance is requested, as the Society at Salem have sent an urgent appeal to the ladies of Portland for additional aid.

From San Francisco.—The bark H. W. Almy, which has on board two hundred and fifty tons of railroad iron iron for Ben. Holladay, sailed for Portland on Monday.

The steamer Pacific sailed for Portland on Tuesday, the 28th.

Library Meeting.—The regular quarterly meeting of the Catholic Library Association will be be held this evening, at the Library rooms. An address will be delivered by the Rev. Father Wenninger.

Hillsboro.—There are twenty-three running horses now training upon the Washington county fair grounds, and three trotting horses. There are five trotting horses on the way.

Military Order.—Major Dallas, Acting Inspector General of this Department has been ordered to Camp Harney to take command of that post.

Race at Stott's Track.—At the race at Stott's track last Saturday, Stott's colt, Jack Miner, a two year old, was winner. Time, 2:01, one mile.

The "Pacific Bear."—This weekly newspaper to be published at McMinnville by W. A. McPherson, will make its appearance next Tuesday.

Sale Postponed.—Mr. A. B. Richardson's real estate sale announced for yesterday, was postponed till next Saturday, Oct. 2d.

The Richest Boy in America.—The papers are telling us about a boy in New England, now fourteen years of age, who is supposed to be the richest boy in the United States, because he has a great deal of money. The richest boy in America, is the one who is good hearted, honest, intelligent, ambitious, willing to do right. He is the one who loves his mother, and always has a kind word for her; who loves his sister or sisters, and tries to help them and regards them with true affection. He is the boy who does not call his father the "old man," but who loves him, speaks kindly to and of him, and tries to help him as the hairs of his old age gather fast upon his brow. The richest boy is the one who has pluck to fight his destiny and future. He is the one who has manhood to do right and be honest and is striving to be somebody; who is above doing a mean action; who would not tell a lie to screen himself or betray a friend. He is the boy who has a heart for others; whose young mind is full of noble thoughts for the future, and is determined to win a name by good deeds. This is the richest boy in America. Which one of our readers is it? This boy we like; we would be glad to see; would like to take by the hand and tell him to go on earnestly, that success might crown his efforts. And if he is a poor boy, we should meet him at the threshold, bid him enter and give him good advice, well and kindly meant. That other rich boy in New England we don't care anything about, for there are fools and snobs enough to worship, flatter, and spoil him.

To Hebrew Parents—Religious Instruction.—Dr. Eckman has commenced imparting religious instruction to the children of those parents who may be desirous of committing their children under the (almost paternal) care of a man whose truly religious character and simplicity have ever most extraordinarily attuned his mind to that of simple childhood, and exercised a "magnetic" power over the juveniles brought within his influence which undegenerate minds can never acquire. The instructions will, till the new Synagogue will be completed, be given at the Washington Armory Hall, next building to the Portland Library. Till then, they will be given on the Sabbath and Holy days, after the close of the regular morning service.

By order of the President.

s17 P. LEVIN, Secretary.

Catholic Library.—The regular quarterly meeting will be held at the rooms on Thursday evening, Sept. 30th, at 7½ o'clock. The Rev. Father Weninger will be present and deliver an address. The parishioners are invited to attend. By order

The First Cricket

BY W. D. HOWELLS.

Ah me is it then true that the year has waxed unto waning
And that so soon must remain nothing but lapse and decay—
Earliest cricket that out of the midsummer midnight complaining
All the faint summer in me takest with subtle dismay

Though thou bringest no dream of frost to the flowers that slumber
Though no tree for its leaves doomed of thy voice maketh moan
With the unconscious earth's boded evil my soul thou dost cumber,
And in the year's lost youth maketh me still lose my own

Answerest thou, that when night winds of December are blackest and bleakest
And when the fervid grate feigns me a May in my room,
And by my hearthstone gay, as now sad in my garden thou creakest,
Thou wilt again give me all—dew and fragrance and bloom!

Nay, little poet full many a cricket I have that is willing,
If I but take him down out of his place on my shelf
Me blither lays to sing than the blythest known to thy thrilling,
Full of the rapture of life, May morn, hope and—him self

Leaving me only the sadder; for never one of my singers
Lures back the bee to his feast, calls back the bird to his tree
Hast thou no art can make me believe, while the summer yet lingers,
Better than bloom that has been red leaf and sere that must be?

Postal Telegraph

In an editorial on "The Mighty Agency of the Telegraph, and the Duty of the Government with Regard to It," the New York Herald says that surprising and important as the developments and influence of the magnetic telegraph have been, we have seen only the infancy—the first signs of the power—of this mighty agent of modern science and civilization. We understand there is a new and remarkable invention, an automatic system of self-telegraphing power, which will multiply eight or ten times the facilities of telegraphic communication over the present system From the information we have received, and from what we have seen, there is reason to believe this is one of the most astonishing inventions of the age, and destined to produce a great revolution in the commerce, financial affairs, intercourse and social condition of the world. We learn, also, that the Government will be asked to test this invention and to take control of and use it for the public good Congress, we hope, will not hesitate to investigate the matter and to make the necessary appropriation first, to try the new system between Washington and New York, and then, if successful, to obtain the patent and give the whole country the benefit of it under Government control Congress never did a better thing than when it appropriated $30,000 for putting up and testing the first magnetic telegraph line between Washington and Baltimore. What wonderful results have followed! Yet the opposition was so great that it took five years that is, from 1838, when the Committee on Commerce first reported the bill, till 1843, when it was finally passed and signed by the President—to get this insignificant sum for trying the greatest invention then of the age. Let us hope our Congress will prove itself more enlightened It should pass at once, on assembling, Mr Washburne's bill appropriating $50,000 for an experimental postal telegraph line between New York and Washington, with an addition of any other sum, if necessary, to test on such line the new automatic system.

It is known that the object of Mr. Washburne and those who act with him in proposing this is, if that should prove successful, to place the whole telegraph system in a [illegible] postal telegraph of the country under Government control. This is the secret of the determined and powerful hostility of the existing telegraph monopoly to his measure. It would not only be the entering wedge that must break up this monopoly, but would show, probably, that in case of a proposition to purchase existing lines the Government could construct better ones for eight or ten millions of dollars less than the [illegible] companies would demand for their property. It is a curious fact that when the invention of the magnetic telegraph was first brought before Congress in the way mentioned, the idea was to connect its operations with the postal system The inventor, as he said in a speech at the banquet given to him a short time since in this city, was the first to propose that. The Secretary of the Treasury at that time, Judge Woodbury, urged this upon Congress, and the report of the House Committee on Commerce was very emphatic. It strongly recommended the Government to take possession of the invention. Some of the statesmen of that day seemed to have a prophetic knowledge of what the telegraph would become. But how much more applicable are their arguments to the present time and state of things than to the period when this invention was first used."

Chicago.—A late visitor to Chicago writes as follows to his home newspaper

I went to hear Dr. Hatfield preach and pray yesterday afternoon. He prayed that the "Lord would remove from Chicago all intemperance, Sabbath breaking, licentiousness, fraud, profanity, cheating, and every form of vice;" and then I didn't hear the next few sentences, because I was thinking what would be left of Chicago! I finally concluded that the Chicago river and some perfumery would be left, and so I gave attention to the rest of the prayer.

"It was worth hearing the other night, when a little three-year old, extemporizing his usual appendix to "Now I lay me," full of the desire that had possessed him for an hour past, and forgetful of some elementary teachings on the spirit of prayer, said "Oh Lord! please give me a pair of boots—when—you—get—ready."

A Hindoo widow has ventured on the monstrous innovation of a second marriage, in Calcutta, and the native population are in much excitement about it. Stopping the suttee business was bad enough, but only think of widows marrying again! Well, the Hindoo widow clearly thought it better to marry than burn.

ENDORSEMENTS.

OLYMPIA, W T March 27, 1869

C. A. WHITE Esq—Dear Sir: Having examined your original map, embracing that portion of Washington Territory west of the Cascade Range, I desire to add my testimony to its value Having been engaged for a number of years in the surveys from Cape Flattery to the Head of Puget Sound, I have examined this portion of your map more critically than others, and I take pleasure in vouching for its general correctness.

This map will fill a want that has long been felt, not only among the residents of this Territory but others who are desirous of obtaining information of this portion of the Far West and I trust that we shall soon see it in a form suitable for general distribution

JAS S LAWSON
Asst U S C S

We endorse the annexed opinion of Jas S. Lawson, Esq and will add that Mr Chas A White is a practical Surveyor and has had access to the township maps in the two Land Offices in this Territory as also the Coast Survey charts, and we can vouch for his map of Washington Territory, west of the Cascade Range of Mountains as being correct and the only good map of the same territory that has been made
